

ABSTRACT

The invention resides in a syringe which can be evacuated and which includes a piston rod structure that can be locked in predetermined positions. The syringe is particularly suitable for the treatment of body fluids outside the body particularly for the ultraviolet irradiation treatment of blood or HOT treatment of blood.